BREED THEATER.

"The Fall of Babylon." Sensational Spectacular Feature.

Out of the many attractions at the Breed theater last evening, none was more attractive or impressive than the superb Biblical picture entitled The Fall of Babylon. This picture shows some of the foremost character delincators of the old country, and the sumptuousness of settings and grandeur of costumes, coupled with the highly appropriate oriental music, as rendered by the theater musicians, impress one with the fact that the picture is a big dramatic triumph rather than a motion picture, and is one of the most successful features on the programme. In the great benquet hall scene appears Mile Napierowski, premiere danseuse of the Opera Comiqua, Paris, in the sinuous classic dance before Belshazar. This dance is the one made famous on both continents by Miss Allen and her pupils and followers, and is the poetry of motion. The burning of the city and the occupancy of it by Cyrus, are both strongly dramatic incidents, and the whole picture teems with a rare atmosphere of orientalism and mystery.

The Biograph is a novelty, and is entitled The Twisted Trail, showing some superb Californian mountain scenery.

Miss Shuwny sings the popular il-

Miss Shuwny sings the popular il-lustrated song craze, Has Anybody Here Seen Kelly, winning the house, later singing the southern melody, Honey When It's Sunny. PHOENIX THEATER, DANIELSON. The Famous Johnson-Ketchel Fight

Pictures Tonight. The most remarkable fight pictures ever produced are to be shown at the Phoenix theater this (Tuesday) evening. There was nothing remarkable about the fight itself except that it was fought to a clean finish, and there was no demur at the decision. It is the quality of the pictures that you will be interested in Every motion made during the intensely interesting contest between Jack Johnson, heavy-weight champion, and Stanley Ketchel, middleweight champion of the world, are as clearly reproduced on this film as has ever been seen on a screen. The clear California atmosphere and bright sunlight, diffused by fleecy clouds, made the day this picture was taken an ideal one for photographic purposes. The New York daily papers, in referring to the picture, each single out the photography for praise. Edgren The New York daily papers, in referring to the picture, each single out the photography for praise. Edgren of The World; Tad of The Journal-American, Walter St. Denis in The Globe—all those who saw it at Hammerstein's theater, said it was the clearest fight picture that they had ever seen. It is like bringing the participants in this great contest right into eastern Connecticut for the fans' special benefit of the followers of the sport who could not see the original happening in far away California. Come early and get a good seat.

CONCENTRATION.

A little April shower
Usual only lasts an hour,
Then the sun shines out of clear and
smiling skies,
Like tears of some fair maiden
With but little sorrow lades,
And soon lost in the laughter of her eyes.

This April we've been having.
Has of rain been very saving.
Has been dry, indeed, as the proverbial bone;
The dust's been people choking.
And it's really been provoking.
The wiseacres for crops began to groan.

But its arid aberration,
It's made up in concentration.
If before we felt inclined a bit to pout,
At the dryness of the season,
We have now been given reason
To fear that April showers will drown
